Subject: AVICC Convention Sooke

I attend the AVICC convention on April 12-14 in Sooke with Director McCullagh the convention started at 2pm but due to travel arrangements we never arrived until 5 missing out on the address by the Minister Ida Chong and keynote speaker Vaughn Palmer. When we arrived the opening reception was in progress this gave us a opportunity to network with local government elected officials.

On Saturday the 13 there was a working breakfast which I attended the work shop I was at was on Carbon credits. At 8:30 the business session started and ran until 9:10 at that time the resolutions where stated to be considered. there were thirty resolutions and three late resolution.

Resolutions where considered in two sessions the one on Saturday morning and the remainder on a session Sunday all resolutions where endorsed including the four late resolutions. The afternoon was taken up with work shops the first one I attended was on electric agendas which I found very interesting the second was on oil spill response which I also found interesting. Al far a I am concerned there certainly isn't any thing in place to deal with a major response I would like it to spilling a gallon of oil on your kitchen floor and be given a 2 by 2 blotter to clean it up.

On Saturday evening was the annual Banquet it was very nice evening the Music was provided by the Sooke Philharmonic Orchestra which is a very talented group of Thirty or more musicians quite endeavor for a small community.

On Sunday the sessions stated at 7:15 again with a working breakfast and workshop on the natural City even though I found this very interest it certainly never fit very well into the CCRD it was all about density and how a city should be. At 8:30 the convention went back into session with report on nominations for the up coming year and election reports. At 8:35 we started dealing with resolutions and late resolutions as mention earlier all resolution were endorsed include ours. John Horgan the local MLA and member of the opposition addressed the convention. at 10:45 there was a very interesting presentation on more than pretty beaches and what is being done to restore the natural beaches and how man should be dealing with them. In the closing ceremonies there was the installation of officers Larry Cross of the City of Sidney is the President, Barbara Price form Comox is Vice President and Electoral Area representative is Mary Marcott form the cowichan Valley.
